

Discuss Vietnam Problem

Anglo-Soviet Leaders In Private Meet

LONDON (AP) — No shift in the Soviet attitude toward the war in Vietnam emerged today from the opening of talks between Prime Ministers Alexei Kosygin and Harold Wilson.

Informants said Wilson and Kosygin restated their familiar positions on the Southeast Asian war at the first private sessions of the Soviet premier's week-long visit to Britain.

They talked for three hours Monday in the Cabinet room at No. 10 Downing St. That was an hour more than scheduled, but there was no hint that this indicated any progress toward agreements. A spokesman said it meant they were "usefully occupied in their time."

A news blackout was imposed on the discussions, and some diplomatic commentators took this as a good sign. However, Soviet sources said Kosygin arrived from Moscow ready to press the Communist position that the United States must stop bombing North Vietnam before any peace talks can start.

Wilson, who reportedly had consulted with President Johnson shortly before Kosygin's arrival, favors a new and prolonged pause in the bombing as a method of clearing the air for some new peace initiative. There was no hint here of the U.S. attitude. Officials refused to disclose the nature of the exchanges between Washington and London.

Kosygin and Wilson scheduled 18 hours together, which would provide ample time to work on any new initiative on Vietnam. There was little optimism that they would agree on one.

House And Senate Back On The Job

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House and Senate returned to work today with a multitude of problems. Committees scheduled hearings today and tonight.

They will hear bills to raise old age assistance grants from $75 to $85 a month at an estimated cost of $1 million monthly all in state funds, to prevent consumers from being defrauded, prevent drug racing and bills concerning many other issues.

The Senate Judiciary Committee takes a look at a bill by Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau to allow Missouri to join a multi-state tax compact. Spradling says if the federal government takes over taxation of interstate corporations under a bill pending in Congress it could cost the state $50 million a year in revenue.

Another Senate committee will hear a bill to count absentee ballots on election day—a measure that has failed in the past.

The big splash comes Wednesday night when a House committee considers the perennial bill to allow private and parochial students to ride public school buses. It always generates heated emotions on both sides.

While the loud hearing is going on, the House Education Committee will decide the fate of a "shared time" bill that would allow handicapped or educationally deprived students from private and parochial schools to attend special courses in public schools on a part time basis.

Monday the House Appropriations committee heard a request from the motor fuel tax unit for money to build a new laboratory.

It raised the possibility of a new central lab for all state agencies. The University of Missouri at Rolla had requested money for a new laboratory and research center.

Monday night the committee hear a request from the State Inter-Agency Council for outdoor recreation for $2.5 million. Thus far the council has distributed more than $3 million in federal funds for recreational projects.

Proposed Hospital Addition

Asian Trip Planned By Goldberg

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, disclosed today that he is going to make an extensive trip to a dozen or more nations in Southeast Asia. But, he said, "I am not going on a 'peace mission'."

Goldberg discussed the trip and other matters today with President Johnson, who asked him to undertake the assignment.

He said it is "a fact-finding trip for the President — all political and economic development."

"You will be searching for peace won't you?" Goldberg was asked while he talked with reporters in the White House lobby.

"I will not be making a peace mission," the ambassador said.

Goldberg said a complete itinerary would come out later but that Vietnam definitely will be on his schedule. He said he will be in the Philippines to address a meeting there in March of all American ambassadors in the area. He said he hopes to go to Burma. And he said there also might be some stops in Europe.

The ambassador said he hoped to leave in about 10 days and thought the trip would require three or four weeks.

Smallest Of Harris Quintuplets Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Tiny Talitha Harris, smallest of the four surviving Harris quintuplets, died today of a cardiac arrest following complications of pneumonia.

A spokesman for the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn said the infant died at 4:15 a.m., about 24 hours after she took a turn for the worse.

Her two sisters and a brother were reported in good condition. The twins were born last Wednesday night to a Brooklyn couple. A fifth infant was dead at birth.

A spokesman for the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn said Monday night the infant, who weighed 2 pounds, 10 ounces at birth, was breathing irregularly. He said the prognosis was grave.

Intravenous feeding was started and five doctors and four nurses began an around-the-clock watch.

A hospital spokesman said the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Harris, knew of the child's condition. "The mother has received the news very, very sadly," the spokesman said.

The Weather

Fair to partly cloudy with a gradual warming trend through Wednesday night. Low tonight 15-20. High Wednesday near 40. Precipitation probability near zero.

The temperature Tuesday was 9 at 7 a.m., and 19 at noon. Low Monday night 9.

The temperature one year ago today was high 55; low 39; two years ago, high 58; low 50; three years ago, high 34; low 20.

Lake of Ozark stage: 55.9 feet; 4.1 below full reservoir; down 2.

Bid On County Oil Supplies

Mobil Oil Co., submitted the lowest bid of six firms and was awarded the contract to furnish Pettis County with gasoline and diesel fuel, it was reported today. Mobil's bid states the fuels will be sold at the rate of .1310 cents a gallon for regular gasoline and .1150 for one gallon of diesel fuel.

This is the first time in recent years the county has purchased gasoline on a bid basis. Prior purchase of the fuels was made on something of a rotation basis.

The county court also approved the bid received from Mike O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick-GMC, Inc., here for $1,508.37 for the purchase of 12 big grader tires and six tubes, and nine truck tires, plus five tubes.

News Media Addressed By Dugan

During the City Council meeting Monday night, Councilman George Dugan, Jr., addressed the news media on what they can accomplish for the City of Sedalia, and also was critical on a point or two.

The report came when various committee chairmen were giving their reports on work under their departments. Dugan was called as chairman of the Printing and Ordinance Committee.

He read the following prepared statement:

"Mr. Mayor: "With your permission, I would like to address a few remarks to the news media.

"Several months ago the City Council entered into an agreement with the Mitche Publishing Co. to update, codify, and print our city ordinances. It was interesting to read Mr. Scruton's editorial of several nights ago suggesting this be done.

"The ordinances were last updated in 1958 at a reported cost to the city of $11,600. Our contract that we now have will cost the city $5,000 or less. This cost will include the printing of ordinances as well as the legal work involved.

"This brings up the second point that I would like to make. You as the news media of Sedalia have an enviable position. I take my hat off to you.

"The success or failure of any project, no matter how large or small, lies in your words and print. You should be dedicated citizens of Sedalia. Your powers are greater than those of any other group of citizens, even greater than those of the mayor and council. The manner in which you place your alliance will ultimately spell the success or failure of any project this city may undertake.

"It is interesting to note that, during the last several bond elections that were held in Sedalia, more news print was devoted to paid advertisement than was used by our local paper. If they were for or against does not matter. What does count is the fact they must, and I repeat must, take a stand either for or against the progress of Sedalia.

"To be a dedicated news man, one must have that one true trait of being able to determine the advisability of any project and then fight tooth and nail for its success," Dugan concluded.

After reading his statement, Dugan remarked he didn't want to sound officious, but impressed again the importance of the news media to the city.

Referred To Board

Hospital Building Bids At Council

By D. Kelly Scruton

Bids on the improvements to be made at Bothwell Hospital were presented to the City Council, Monday night, and the Council immediately moved the bids be referred to the hospital board for their action to accept the best and lowest bid. During the bids presentation by Robert Gardner of the board, a picture of the architect's design was passed among the Council members.

Gardner said the bids were advertised in Kansas City and five contractors bid on the proposal. The successful bidder in accordance with the figures given would be the Dean Construction Co., Sedalia, whose total bid, including five alternates, totaled $265,953, which was $220 less than the next bidder, Borchers and Heimsoth Construction Co., whose bid was $266,173. The other bids were Weeks and Maxwell Construction Co., Independence, $279,949; Henry Construction Co., Grandview, $276,108; and Curtiss Manes Construction Co., Eldon, $289,322.

The base bids, excluding the five alternates were Borchers and Heimsoth: $258,773; Dean Construction Co., $263,000; Henry Construction Co., $264,800; Weeks - Maxwell Construction

Co., $268,750; and Curtiss Manes Construction Co., $284,671.

Following the presentation, Fred Lang, president of the hospital board, told the Council of the plans, and said the improvement would still leave the hospital a bed shortage. He explained when members of the board went to Jefferson City to apply for some assistance through the Hill-Burton funds, they were informed the monies had already been channeled to hospitals in Kansas City and St. Louis, but to make application.

"With the money we have through contributions and such, we have enough to carry on with the present plans, but we hope to get additional funds and enlarge the hospital and give to Sedalia one which will be known throughout the state. This too," he said, "will attract more doctors to our city."

Prostitution Ordinance

Under ordinances, the one on the subject of prostitution was unanimously passed. It prohibits a prostitute from frequenting public places, prohibits operation of a bawdy house and places penalties against those found guilty of prostitution or those who operate a bawdy house and those who lease or rent a building for such acts. They are subject to fines of not more than $100 or 90 days in the city jail or both.

An ordinance was later introduced against gambling. This ordinance prohibits gambling, prohibits the operation of a gambling establishment.

Egyptian Plane Lands In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Informal sources said here today an Egyptian military plane arrived in Amman carrying more than 30 persons, including a defecting top Egyptian intelligence officer.

There was no immediate official confirmation. Amman radio earlier announced an Ilyushin-type plane had landed in Jordan and a senior Egyptian intelligence officer had asked and received political asylum.

Reports from Cairo indicated the plane might have been an Egyptian airliner which had been earlier reported to have exploded on a flight from Cairo to the Red Sea port of Hurgada.

Cairo identified the missing plane as a Russian-built, Antonov. Amman radio described it as an Ilyushin, without saying whether it was an Ilyushin 14 transport or an Ilyushin 82 bomber. Both are in service with the Egyptian air force.

The sources said the plane, arrived at a Jordanian military airfield this morning. The defecting Egyptian officer was identified by Amman radio as Riyadh Kamel Hajjaj, said to be "a top U.A.R. intelligence officer."

No further details were immediately available in the Jordanian capital and there was no other official announcement besides the brief report by the radio.

Americans Wounded By Blast In Zone C

11th-Hour Surge Before Beginning of the Truce

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Several U.S. soldiers in Operation Gadsden, a drive across War Zone C, were wounded today by a Communist mine detonated from across the Rach Cai Bac border river in Cambodia, a dispatch from the scene said.

Associated Press photographer Al Chang, who was with the troops, said no Communists were sighted, however, and the Americans made no move to cross the river.

Industrial Development In January

Outlook Is Bright For Current Year, Director Reports

The month of January was a rather busy one for the Industrial Director, and a number of calls were made relative to industrial prospects according to Industrial Director William H. Hall.

This is Hall's report for January.

"During the month 99 letters were written to prospects, two of which were referred by local people. Of those 99, we received replies from 4 of them and 2 of them with such indications as to set up prospect files. Later in the month I called on one of the prospects in their office. During the second week of January, the Industrial Director, along with the Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, made calls on industrial prospects in New York City. The trip was prompted by the invitation of two different industrial prospects to visit with them in their offices, which we did. The other prospects called on were those that had been in the file for a while and a refresher call was made. All in all, we managed to call on 8 different prospects while in New York City.

"To one prospect we took the Sedalia film and showed it to people in the prospect's office. It was quite well received; the prospect highly complimented us on having put forth such an effort, and it is hoped that by so doing we gained a lot of ground for reaching an understanding with this particular prospect.

"As far as the prospects are concerned for the present time, the outlook is bright and cheerful for 1967 and we hope to have some commitment out of some of the prospects before very long.

In Vietnam Area

Charge 'Great Dereliction' In Guarding US Airfields

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today the military is guilty of "great derelictions in security" in guarding U.S. airfields and ammunition dumps in Vietnam.

Russell said the Pentagon's announcement Monday nearly doubling the publicly acknowledged toll of U. S. aircraft in Southeast Asia indicated a security gap.

"Our operating conditions at our airfields are not good," Russell said. "We have not installed the bunker system we used in World War II to separate parked planes from each other and thus diminish damage from attack.

"There has been great dereliction in security at our airfields and ammunition dumps which has permitted the Viet Cong to make damaging, sneak attacks on them. This must be corrected."

The Georgia Democrat said that while South Vietnamese have been used to guard airfields, ammunition depots which have been attacked are guarded by U. S. troops. Many of the newly listed aircraft were planes or helicopters destroyed or irreparably damaged by Viet Cong attack on airstrips.

The Pentagon said Monday that in addition to the previously announced losses of 622 attack planes knocked down by Communist anti-aircraft or missiles, 550 planes have been lost on air strips, in operations outside Vietnam or for operational causes.

The 550 planes, worth an estimated $500 million, were said to range from single-engine Army observation planes to jet bombers.

The losses outside Vietnam included Air Force fighter-bombers which crashed in Laos while bombing Communist infiltration routes and planes downed in Thailand en route to missions in North Vietnam.

The announced toll of 255 helicopters will soon be more than doubled by adding in the non-attack categories of loss, officials also indicated.

Russell said he believes the losses of 1,172 fixed-wing planes exceeds the attrition rate for similar losses in the Korean War.

Russell said he and his committee knew the losses were clearly double those of the previously posted 622. He indicated he saw no need for any new investigation of the matter except for a possible inquiry into tightening security.

But Sen. Pource B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, called the Pentagon's announcement "shocking" and "fantastic." As a supporter of President Johnson's war course, he said it was the kind of "half-truth" that failed to sustain the administration's position that it has been disclosing the full extent of war losses.

"It raises the question of the credibility of the announcements of the number of casualties in Vietnam," he said. "It seems to me that we could well ask what the true figure is on casualties."

Pentagon spokesmen said military intelligence opposed revealing aircraft losses to the enemy but that about three-fourths of the losses in cumulative form Monday had been mentioned individually in past communiques anyway.

A Defense Department statement said "inquiries from newsmen have focused" on the losses of attack planes downed by anti-aircraft or missiles. Reporters at the Pentagon had been inquiring for days about the other loss categories, however.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who has opposed any escalation of the war, said he thinks it would have been far better for the Pentagon to have announced the losses as they occurred.

Mansfield said he does not regard this as a credibility gap. But he called in the future for "greater coordination and synthesis" in presenting overall figures.

Joseph A. Dear

Death Takes Treasurer Of Democrat

J. A. Dear Succumbs After Brief Illness Of Viral Infection

Joseph Albert Dear IV, president of Dear Publication and Radio, Inc., treasurer and director of the Sedalia Democrat Co., died at 10 o'clock Monday night at Suburban Hospital, Bethesda, Md. after ten days illness of a viral infection. He was 44.

The corporation of which Mr. Dear is president publishes the following newspapers: Wheaton (Ill.) Daily Journal; Elizabeth City (N.C.) Daily Advance; the Henderson (Ky.) Gleaner-Journal; the Sedalia (Mo.) Democrat and Capital.

Mr. Dear was born in Jersey City, N.J., September 18, 1922. He was graduate of the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N.J. He became a reporter on the Jersey City Journal of which his father, J. Albert Dear was publisher. The latter sold the Dear interests in that publication in 1952.

In the late 1940's Mr. Dear was Washington correspondent for Dear Publication and Radio, Inc., and for several other newspapers during which time he covered stories abroad for the company.

Upon his father's death in 1959, he became president of Dear Publication and Radio. In 1964 he was president of the National Press Club, Washington, D.C. and a director of the National Press Building Corporation. He was an active member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity; also vice-president and co-publisher of the Overseas Media Co., which publishes Overseas Weekly and Overseas Family newspapers for American servicemen and their families in Europe.

Surviving Mr. Dear are his wife, Ann Blevins Dear, two sons, Joseph A. Dear V, and Charles; his mother, Mrs. Cyrene Bakke Dear, all of Bethesda.

Stealing Case Referred To Circuit Court

R. W. Harvey, charged in a state complaint with stealing over $50, was bound over to the April term of Circuit Court after a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court Tuesday morning. Bond was set at $1,000.

The case was continued from Jan. 31, when the state received additional time to present further evidence in the case. Involved is an instance on Sept. 19, when Harvey allegedly collected receipts totalling $218.56 from Jack Howell, manager of a service station south of Sedalia on Highway 65.

The money, evidence indicated, was obtained for material sold to Howell by Harvey while the latter was still an employee of Hagman's Inc., a distribution firm in Clinton. Evidence also brought out that when the money was allegedly collected, Harvey was no longer an employee of the firm.

Presenting testimony for the state were Charles Titus, manager of the Clinton firm, and Howell. G. E. Brown represents Harvey in the case. The state complaint is being prosecuted by Henry Keeler, but was originally filed by J. R. Fritz.

Awards Night
For Civil
Air PatrolFuture
Subscribers

The Civil Air Patrol Squadron, tonight, will hold an awards night at the squadron headquarters on the Sedalia Memorial Airport grounds to which the public is invited. The program will begin at 8 p. m. under the direction of squadron commander, Capt. Otto Balke, Jr.

Recently at a meeting of Group V and Sedalia Composite Squadron, the promotion of Second Lieutenant William V. Lemke, Smithton, to first lieutenant was announced. He is a senior member of the Sedalia Squadron and serves as its communication officer.

Lt. Lemke has been a member of the Civil Air Patrol since 1955 and a cadet until 1958. Then as a senior member he served until 1961 as assistant command officer when he became the commander. Except for a tour of duty with the U. S. Army from 1962 to 1965 he has remained in that position.

At the meeting tonight all promotions and awards earned by cadets in the past three months will be presented by Capt. Balke.

Following the ceremonies, refreshments will be obtainable at the squadron snack bar.

long. It must be remembered, however, that industrial prospecting is a long, slow and tedious process. Companies that desire to relocate or expand their operations do not do so overnight. Many times it is a process whereby years of study and research go into such an operation. The case is true with recent industrial development projects that have been announced for the State of Missouri — one in particular in one of our neighboring communities to the south. The planning for such a plant was in the mill for almost 4½ years.

Many of the industrial plants that are moving into the State of Missouri are the result of individuals in the community or professionals in the industrial development field in Jefferson City, or professionals in various communities around over the state, having worked on those particular projects for two to three years. It is necessary to always keep in mind that the prospect is the customer in this case and his wishes are the wishes that are to be followed. If it is his desire to go slow, then we go slow. If it is his desire to move fast, then we move fast.

"We are prepared in the Office of Industrial Development to provide the kind of information that the prospect wants in nearly all cases. If we do not have the information in the office, it does not take long to get the information with the resources we have here in the City of Sedalia.

"It should be noted at this time that the Industrial Department has had every cooperation from the Sedalia City Council and the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and nearly all of the professional and civic organizations in town. Without the help and the cooperation and the understanding of the citizens and the leaders and officers of civic groups, industrial development could not be accomplished here in Sedalia.

"During the month, the Industrial Director spoke at the Breakfast Optimist Club, consulted with two of the committees of the Community Betterment Program — the Social Development Committee and the Beautification Committee. The ladies and gentlemen of both of those committees are to be highly commended for their interest in the community and their ideas for advancing the Community Betterment Program here in Sedalia. During the month also, the Industrial Department has provided a Plant Location Study to a prospect suggested by the State of Missouri, and I might add at this time the prospect will be visiting in the community before very long. They are extremely interested in what Sedalia has to offer.

"During the month, the Industrial Director, along with the Executive Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, the Director of the University of Missouri Extension Center, and the Director of the Mid-Missouri Community Action Corporation met with a representative of the Boeing Company and a representative of the University of Missouri, concerning extension courses for college credit here in Sedalia. The program is still being worked out and details will be forthcoming in the next few days. It is hoped that those interested in college credit courses, either degree courses or extended courses, will get in touch with either the Industrial Department, the Chamber of

Circuit Court

A petition for damages was filed in Circuit Court Monday by Kent A. Maxfield against Charles R. Hunt, 1809 South Osage.

The petition seeks damages resulting from an automobile accident at Ninth and Wagner which occurred Oct. 29, 1966. At that time, Hunt was driving a 1964 Ford east on Ninth, when it was involved in an accident with a 1966 Ford sedan, driven south on Wagner by the plaintiff.

The plaintiff seeks $350 for damages his car received as a result of the accident.

A petition for divorce was filed in Circuit Court Monday by Patricia Ann Shafer against Allen Dale Shafer. Attorney for the plaintiff is William F. Brown.

Lemma Jean Belle filed a petition for divorce from Raymond Leon Belle in Circuit Court Monday. Adam B. Fischer is attorney for the plaintiff.

Squeezed together all along parade routes, they shriek, elbow for room and jump for plastic beads, giant toothbrushes, candy, phony money called doubloons, toy swords and rubber cookies.

Nothing can stop them. It is cold, wet and windy. The thermometer is down in the 30s. Monday seven inches of rain fell on New Orleans, flooding half the city. The baby's nose is running and the whole family, clad in goofy costumes, is shivering.

The king ruling over all this madness is Rex, Morgan L. Whitney, a banker and civic leader. His queen is Miss Suzanne Dupuy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Homer Joseph Dupuy.

As treasurer and director of the Sedalia Democrat Co., and in connection with other business interests of Dear Publication and Radio, Mr. Dear was in Sedalia January 12-17. He and his brothers attended the annual stockholders' and directors' meetings. He became ill of an acute viral illness shortly after return to his home in Bethesda, and was hospitalized January 28.

Mr. Dear was a frequent Sedalia visitor with his father for four years until the latter's death in 1959 whereupon the son continued his contacts here. He acquired many friends.

Joe Dear was highly respected by business associates and employees of the Sedalia Democrat Co., who came to know him more intimately not only as a friend but as a keen business man.

There are monkeys, cowboys, Vikings, peacocks — girls in feathers and goosepimples — clowns, witches and monsters. Half of New Orleans dons a costume. The other half is the audience.

Squeezed together all along parade routes, they shriek, elbow for room and jump for plastic beads, giant toothbrushes, candy, phony money called doubloons, toy swords and rubber cookies.

Nothing can stop them. It is cold, wet and windy. The thermometer is down in the 30s. Monday seven inches of rain fell on New Orleans, flooding half the city. The baby's nose is running and the whole family, clad in goofy costumes, is shivering.

The king ruling over all this madness is Rex, Morgan L. Whitney, a banker and civic leader. His queen is Miss Suzanne Dupuy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Homer Joseph Dupuy.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Thursday at the Bradley Hills Presbyterian Church, Bethesda, Maryland. Burial will be private.

The body is at the Gawler Funeral Home, Wisconsin Avenue and Harrison, N.W., Washington, D. C.

The family suggests memorials to the Opera Society, Washington, D. C.

As treasurer and director of the Sedalia Democrat Co., and in connection with other business interests of Dear Publication and Radio, Mr. Dear was in Sedalia January 12-17. He and his brothers attended the annual stockholders' and directors' meetings. He became ill of an acute viral illness shortly after return to his home in Bethesda, and was hospitalized January 28.

Mr. Dear was a frequent Sedalia visitor with his father for four years until the latter's death in 1959 whereupon the son continued his contacts here. He acquired many friends.

Joe Dear was highly respected by business associates and employees of the Sedalia Democrat Co., who came to know him more intimately not only as a friend but as a keen business man.

ing house, prohibits the owner of a house, building, room or shed, etc., from leasing such for gambling purposes. Also the ordinance says any person partaking in games, lottery, playing cards for money, are subject to a misdemeanor and, if found guilty, can be fined up to $100 or 90 days in the city jail or both.

The above ordinance was read for the first time and was carried over to the next meeting for the second and third readings and final passage.

A resolution authorizing the mayor to sign a contract with the State Highway Department to permit the construction of Route U across a water easement was passed.

Daylight Savings

The Council then passed another resolution on daylight saving time which recommends that the Congress of the United States change the time of daylight saving. Instead of starting the last Sunday in April and ending the last Sunday in October, it is proposed a starting time on Memorial Day, ending at 2 a. m. Labor Day. The longer time the resolution states would work a hardship on students as well as many businesses.

Tree Limbs Problem

Councilman Walter Jessee, reported for the Street and Alley Department on work caused by the recent ice storm. He pointed out the Sanitation Department and the Sedalia park employees are also assisting in the endeavor to clean up Sedalia of tree limbs and brush. He said it created a problem whereby the department had to purchase a new chain saw and new grading blades due to the wearing of those on tractors during the snow removal program.

City Engineer Robert Cunningham reported there are 1,140 blocks in Sedalia and approximately half of them have been visited and limbs and branches have been hauled away. He said it would be several weeks before the work could be completed and as a result no street work is in progress until weather conditions improve.

Jessee also said, "Believe it or not, our men were run out of one yard where they started to remove some tree limbs."

Councilman Jerry Jones reported the Sanitation Department had likewise been busy, "but speaking for the citizens of the Third Ward or most of them, we want to commend the Street and Alley Department for an excellent job during the storm."

Councilman James Schumaker asked permission of the Council to continue to sell parking permits for the next six months. The request was approved.

Schumaker, under the Committee of Gas, Lights, Parking and Police, asked the Council to hear a recommendation of the Police Personnel Board. A recommendation was made for the appointment of Franklin D. Rogers, 2205 South Ohio, as a Class C patrolman. It was approved.

A letter of resignation was then read by City Clerk Ralph Dedrick from George M. Nix as a police officer. Councilman Jones said, "I heartily recommend the resignation be accepted." It was approved.

Jones then asked the Council to grant Mayor Ralph Walker the right to contact Burns and McDonnell engineering firm for a study of rehabilitation of the Main Street sewer. It was approved.

Ann Landers

Answers
Your

Dear Ann Landers: A close friend of ours came under discussion last night and someone said, "I wonder what Ann Landers would say about this?" So I am writing to find out.

The man we were talking about is a gifted, warm-hearted guy who has a host of friends who adore him. Yet his whole life has been a litany of inadequacy and failure. He has had three catastrophic marriages and is headed for the fourth.

In spite of extraordinary ability, he has blown some choice professional opportunities. Colleagues with infinitely less talent remained safely ensconced in their jobs and this truly able guy winds up employed.

Can it be that he is, as some insist, just one of the world's unluckiest so-and-so's? I am beginning to wonder. What do you say? — FORUM OF THE TWELVE CEASARS.

Dear Forum: Each of us knows someone who fits the description — a warm-hearted, talented person with a messed up life.

Bad luck? I doubt it. Individuals who attract trouble and repeatedly fail, subconsciously set themselves up for trouble and failure. Their self-destructive drives propel them into situations they know will end in disaster.

These severely Neurotic people need professional counseling to gain insight into their self-destructive behavior. Those who reject help do so because self-examination is too painful.

Dear Ann Landers: My best friend is making the same mistake I made and I feel guilty because I introduced her to the rat.

Why don't women realize that when a man takes a girl to a motel room, he'll always tell her she's the most wonderful girl in the world and he wants to marry her? What else can he say, for heaven's sake? Even when the girl knows Mr. Rat has had dozens of other affairs she is convinced that he lied to the others but is truthful with her.

When my friend repeated the sweet nothings Mr. Rat whispered in her ear it was like seeing a movie for the second time. I knew what the next line would be.

What can I do to make this foolish girl understand that she will end up in the junk heap with me and a dozen others? — X. PERIENCE

Dear X.: Save your breath to cool your soup, Lovey. . . . Some people stubbornly refuse to take anybody's word for anything. Have you ever noticed the fingerprints around a sign that says "Wet Paint."?

Dear Ann Landers: When a man invites a woman to go on a motor trip with him because he enjoys her company, is it proper for him to expect her to share in the expenses for the car, meals and entertainment? Of course she would pay for her own room.

I am considering taking a trip with a man who has not mentioned expenses and I think we ought to have everything settled before we start. I might as well tell you that I am opposed to paying for anything other than my room because there's a romance involved and I don't believe in spoiling a man by letting him have everything for nothing. What do you say? — ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Dear Roch: I don't know what you mean by "everything," but I think you'd better stay home.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All Hail the Boy Scouts

"Scouting Rounds a Guy Out" will temporarily replace "Be Prepared" as the motto of the Boy Scouts of America during Boy Scout Week, February 7-13.

The week marks the 57th anniversary of the incorporation of the BSA in Washington, D.C., on February 8, 1910.

Millions of American boys—boys who are now the men who govern our country, run our industries, staff our laboratories—have been rounded out by scouting in the past half century. Millions more will be in the future as the movement keeps pace with history.

More than the Scouts' uniforms have changed in six decades. One measure of that change is the constantly updated merit badge program, which now covers 109 careers and hobbies, including such modern subjects as electronics, atomic energy and communications media.

Scouting has also expanded far beyond the hikes and knot-tying it has traditionally been associated with.

As part of the organization's answer to the charge that young people are growing up with little knowledge of the free enterprise system, Scouts today make field trips to plants and offices to see firsthand what a particular business or industry does.

Across the country, thousands of Scout groups specialize in such fields as merchandising, banking and finance, marketing, science, conservation, hotel and restaurant management and many others. Adults who are experts in their fields are featured as speakers at meetings.

More than 1,200 companies have participated in Project Free Enterprise, in which business leaders, who may be "over the hill" as far as hiking and camping are concerned, meet boys in their places of business and explain how their companies operate.

Some aspects of scouting remain the same, however. This August the BSA will play host to the XII World Jamboree in Idaho. It will be the first international camp-out ever held in this country.

Mother's Helpers

American mothers get comparatively little help in household chores from their children because they do not expect it of them. If the mothers do get help, it is because they are good organizers. It took a college professor to find this out by making a survey of 120 working mothers to find out whether they received "high help" or "low help" from members of their families.

The conclusions were: mothers who receive "high help" have set up a schedule for doing chores, have children do the same amount daily but rotate the chores and inspect their work regularly. They also make sure the children feel they are contributing to family life.

The "low help" group gave their children so much freedom that they were not sure what was expected of them, and consequently felt insecure. These mothers felt they should stand over the child when he is working and that the children should be helped with their chores. They felt that the one who could be depended upon to do the job is the one who should do the job.

It does not hurt children to be given responsibilities at an early age. Most of them enjoy helping and doing a job. It may take

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bobby's Ambassador Not A Diplomat

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Bobby Kennedy would have gotten further in his battle to censor Der Stern Magazine and the Manchester book in Hamburg if he had sent someone else as his emissary. The emissary was William Van den Heuvel, who once worked for Bobby in the Justice Department and who is married to the lovely daughter of Jules Stein, powerful head of the Music Corporation of America. Van den Heuvel was a popular figure with the Kennedy jet set in Washington, but in Germany he laid an egg.

The Cowles Publications sent Look's top editor, William Attwood, to Germany to persuade Stern to censor the text. Attwood once served as American Ambassador to Guinea and later to Kenya where he scored remarkable diplomatic victories. He used the same technique in Germany.

Van den Heuvel, however, poked a finger at Henri Nannen, top Stern editor.

"You insulted Robert Kennedy," he belatedly. "You ought to apologize." Nannen quietly closed his briefcase.

"Let's get out of here," he said. Then, turning to his foreign editor, Ebon Vacek, he remarked in German, "What is 'flegel' in English?"

"Flegel" is the German for someone who doesn't behave, but Vacek couldn't find the right translation and by this time Van den Heuvel had quieted down. Later he apologized.

Stern's editors knew they were on solid ground, because the German copyright law is different from the American in that ownership of a piece of literature rests with the publisher the minute he starts to print. Once the presses start to roll, the author has nothing to say about copyright. The second edition of Stein has already started to come off the press when Jackie brought her suit.

Furthermore, German law requires that the suit be brought at the seat of the publishing house, which, in the case of Der Stern is a small village, Itzehoe, 20 miles from Hamburg. Look Magazine had overlooked this requirement.

Jackie's Censorship
Later Van den Heuvel, faced with these facts, stood up and read to the German publisher, Dr. Gert Bucerius, and his staff a peremptory warning that they would have to censor that part of the book to which Bobby Kennedy and Jackie objected. He claimed that what he read was a message from Jackie on behalf of her children. However, it was contained in a little black notebook and didn't sound like Jackie.

"Let us see the message," said Vacek. Van den Heuvel refused.

After the German court had found unanimously for Der Stern against the Kennedy family, Van den Heuvel indicated to the German press that Stern's editors had not treated him right. The press asked the editors about this treatment.

"We only gave him Mosel 1959, caviar, smoked salmon, beef Stroganoff and Camembert cheese!" protested one of the editors.

In the end, Editor Nannen bowed to Jackie's request and is censoring all that she wanted out of the Look Magazine installments. He did not bow to Bobby Kennedy's request. At first the Kennedy family wanted 7,000 words chopped out of the Look installments.

What Der Stern is censoring is not too important.

Jackie asked that the reference to the fact that she had cigarettes in her handbag be deleted.

She also asked that a reference come out of the book to the effect that she had developed a wrinkle on her forehead after the first hectic day in Texas.

Jackie also asked that her statement to Mac Kilduff, Assistant White House Press Secretary, be cut. She had told Kilduff after the presidential plane arrived at Andrews Field from Dallas: "Tell the press I sat with Jack, not with him" — referring to President Johnson.

She also asked that there be censored: "I saw him sprawled out on Jack's bed," again referring to President Johnson.

Those who accompanied Jackie and President Johnson from Dallas to Washington say that the President rested in the presidential bedroom while making phone calls to Washington. He too was exhausted by the events of that tragic day.

Charmed Mississippian
It looks as if Byron De La Beckwith, the Mississippian charged with the murder of Medgar Evers but never convicted, leads a charmed life. After a long chain of fortuitous events, he's now mentioned as a candidate for lieutenant governor of Mississippi.

Beckwith was tried in January, 1964, by an all-white jury which voted 7-5 for acquittal. A second trial, April 17, 1964, resulted in a mistrial.

Later Beckwith received $25,630 from the federal government when the General Services Administration selected his land for a post office.

In fairness to GSA, it should be noted that Beckwith's land had been up for purchase prior to the murder, though the purchase was not consummated until afterwards.

Having been exonerated in the Medgar Evers murder and having won a lot of publicity from it, and having profited by a $25,630 land sale to the same government which prosecuted him, Beckwith is now talking about running for lieutenant governor of Mississippi.

Rapid Attack On LBJ's Crime Program

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's program for a nationwide war on crime, with the federal government footing a good bit of the bill, had hardly reached Congress before Republican leaders attacked it.

Johnson's proposal would not make the federal government boss of crime control but would give the government a major role in it by being a big help and a guiding force.

But the Republican House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said the best way to finance a nationwide attack on crime would be through federal tax-sharing. Tax-sharing has been a much talked of way to bail out states.

As usually discussed, tax-sharing would have the federal government turn over to the states — without strings and therefore without control — billions of dollars from federal revenue.

Under such an arrangement the states could suit themselves on how they used the money. With this latitude some states, perhaps most, could decide none of the federal money would be used for crime prevention.

Ford's deputy in the House, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, pointed out that last Nov. 13 Johnson had vetoed a bill for fighting crime in the District of Columbia.

He said this put the Johnson administration in a poor position to help states against crime until the federal government acted against crime in Washington.

Nevertheless, Johnson was applauded by police and city officials from coast to coast last month when he disclosed he would offer a nationwide program for crime prevention.

When Johnson vetoed the District's anticrime bill — a highly controversial measure before it ever reached him — he explained he thought it would create more problems than it solved and would be fought in courts for years.

Anticipating the usual complaint of federal interference in local affairs if his new anticrime program became law, Johnson in a special message to Congress Monday explained why he was suggesting it.

He said it this way: Crime control is mainly a local problem, but so are health and education. Yet the federal government has had to help local governments on health and education and should do the same about crime since maintaining public order is the "first business of government."

He is asking Congress for $350 million over two years to help the states and cities with planning, research and pilot projects, with the federal government paying about 90 per cent of the cost in this phase of the program.

Then the government would contribute 60 per cent of the cost of local programs the government approved for putting crime prevention into action. The states and cities, of course, would have to pay some of the freight, too.

Since the state and city governments would have to get their programs approved by the federal government before they could get federal money, this would give the federal government some say over the programs.

Johnson in his message saw a lot of things that needed doing, like more efficient courts, more widely used and better educated policemen, better ways to lead people out of crime than they can find in jails now.

He also proposed new controls on the use of narcotics and on the sale of firearms, big and little, and a ban on wiretapping and "electronic bugging and snooping" except in the field of national security.

Johnson sent his message to Congress two weeks after receiving the report of the National Crime Commission, which he created in July, 1965. Officials said his recommendations were consistent with those of the commission.

Today's hand from "Win at Bridge with Jacoby and Son" shows some experts at their worst. It was a team contest so that the hand was played twice.

The bidding in the box is that at the first table. North had just about the least he could have for his four no-trump bid. In fact he had a trifle too little.

As for South, he might have bid two no-trump with only 18 high card points but he also could have held a far more attractive 19 so South should have passed at four no-trump.

West decided to make the safe opening lead of a club. South gathered in the trick, finessed spades successfully and made all 13 tricks when East ungarded his queen of diamonds.

The only comment we can make on the lead is to quote from West, who said: "If I held this hand next week or next year, I still wouldn't lead a heart."

At the other table, North made the same four no-trump bid but South could find no excuse to go on. He passed. West decided there might be some chance to do something in hearts and opened the three spot. The defense took four heart tricks right off the bat and four no-trump went down.

In the book we point out that North's four no-trump bid was not Blackwood. It would be Blackwood in ordinary circles but in most expert circles this particular four no-trump is merely a strong raise in no-trump. If North had really wanted to ask for aces he would have made some other bid before going to four no-trump.

Help On Way For Those Seeking New Understanding

NEW YORK (AP) — There is help on the way for those who are no better at understanding the federal budget than they are at figuring their own household expenses.

President Johnson in his budget message to Congress specifically called for a bipartisan group of informed individuals to clarify the different ways of interpreting the budget and communicating it to the public.

This is an overdue recommendation. It may permit persons of average intelligence to exercise their rights of criticism. As it is, most people cannot now exercise this right.

The budget also is becoming a more important document. No longer is it a simple balance sheet, a list of receipts and expenditures. Increasingly it is becoming an instrument of social change and economic control.

Fifty years ago, for instance, the president did not send a unified budget to Congress. He simply requested from the different congressional committees the money he felt would be needed for the coming year.

The budget, as a unified document, dates only from 1921. Congress in that year directed the president to put down on paper the spending projects he contemplated and the funds he felt he would need for them.

In this same year, Congress also authorized the Budget Bureau as part of the president's office. The General Accounting Office also was established to audit and control the taxes and expenditures set forth in the budget.

This was called the administrative budget. It is the one most people are familiar with. In current proposals, it calls for receipts of $126.9 billion and expenditures of $135 billion.

The next big change resulted from social legislation in the 1930s. The administrative budget failed to make provisions for the tremendous taxing and spending of the trust funds such as Social Security.

The so-called cash-consolidated budget then was set up. It includes the highway trust funds and the survivors insurance funds, for example. In the present proposals these funds amount to between $44.5 billion and $48.1 billion.

The cash budget, then, gives a more accurate picture of the money flowing in and from the Treasury, because it includes the funds earmarked for specific projects which the government increasingly engages in.

The cash budget proposed by President Johnson calls for expenditures of $172.4 billion and receipts of $168.1 billion.

The big complaint against the cash budget is that it does not reflect immediately the changes in economic activity. Receipts and expenditures are not entered in the books immediately. There is a time lag.

The national income accounts budget counts these tax funds immediately—not as they are paid but as they are incurred. It is the budget President Johnson prefers. And it is the budget that perhaps best measures fiscal moves.

The national income accounts is designed to show the immediate effect on your income and on industrial production of spending and taxing by the federal government. If taxes are raised or lowered to slow or speed the economy, the incomes budget best reflects what this does to you.

Letter To The Editor

SENATOR JOHN C. RYAN (Sedalia) — The monstrous salary increase measure involving an additional 3 million dollars was passed out favorably by a Senate Committee. In the Senate activities, votes in committees are not released.

There is something in the bill for everybody, almost; at least for the judicial, executive and legislative branches of the state government. Salaries of legislators would jump from $4,800 to $9,000 per year. The Governor's increase was from $25,000 to $40,000. In the judicial branch for example, the Supreme Court Judges would increase to $32,000 while the circuit court judges would jump from $16,000 to $25,000. The only witnesses at the hearing were a retired Supreme Court Judge and a former Supreme Court Commissioner. I expect to oppose this bill when it reaches the floor of the Senate, but I believe it has a good chance of Senate passage. Consideration in the House would follow and is unpredictable.

Shared Time Bill

After two lengthy hearings last week in the House on the proposed Shared Time Educational Bill, members of the House Education Committee will meet this week in executive session for final action on the bill. An overflow crowd of approximately 1,500 people attended the evening session devoted to opposition to the measure. Sponsored by the Chairman of the Committee on Education, Rep. James Spainhower, a minister of the Christian Church, and recommended earlier by Governor Hearnes, the hearings evoked a heavy mail campaign by the opponents. As usual on controversial matters, the legislative outcome is unpredictable.

Air Raid Sirens Cause Some Alarm

UNIVERSITY CITY, Mo. (AP) — When an air raid siren blasted the air for about 30 minutes Monday police in University City, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, received about 100 phone calls.

Most of the calls complained of the noise, but a couple of people nervously asked if any planes had been sighted, police said.

Earlier in the day the siren failed a routine "growl" test and a repairman was called in to correct the situation. Two hours later it sounded the "Red Alert," apparently with no outside help.

Warrensburg Wins MIAA Cage Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Bears and Warrensburg Mules won MIAA basketball games Monday night and the Lincoln University Tigers added another high-scoring victory to their string.

Springfield broke two scoring records although its regulars played less than half the game in beating the Maryville Bearcats 116-71 at Springfield. The former school record was 113 points against Rolla at Rolla in 1963, and the fieldhouse mark was 103 in 1963.

Lew Shepherd hit 10 of 10 field shots as he and Dan Bolden led the Bears with 21 points each. Ralph Gifford topped Maryville with 14.

Warrensburg, with Calvin Pettit making 23 points, downed the Kirksville Bulldogs 67-52 at Warrensburg in a ragged contest. The Mules tried 554 free throws and sank 23 of them. The Bulldogs hit 16 of 38. Warrensburg shot 38 per cent from the field and Kirksville 35 per cent.

Springfield, unbeaten in two years in the MIAA, stands 6-0 in the league, Kirksville 4-4, Warrensburg 2-4, and Maryville 1-7.

Lincoln, slowed somewhat by a Fort Hays State zone defense for a while, had to bang away from long range but still managed to beat the Kansans 102-79 at Jefferson City. It dropped Lincoln's average to 106.9 points per game in 21 games, and ran its record to 19-2.

Marshall Evans scored 27 points for Lincoln. Arvesta Kelly played only the last half because of a cold, but still made 20 points.

William Jewell will play at Missouri Valley in tonight's only game among Missouri colleges.

Will Waste No Time On Successor

ATLANTA (AP)—Bobby Dodd was widely known for his casual approach to coaching, but as Georgia Tech athletic director he doesn't plan to waste any time finding his successor as football coach.

"I hope we can have a coach within four days," Dodd said after resigning Monday, adding that he plans to talk with three or four outsiders and key men of his own staff.

"I don't think that it is too late to hire the man we want," Dodd said. "If we want someone, I think we have as good a chance of getting him now as we had last December."

However, most speculation about Dodd's replacement centered on Tech's top defensive coach, Bud Carson.

Carson, 36, has been at Tech only a year but he was credited by Dodd with developing the Yellow Jackets' surprisingly tough defense last fall.

Also mentioned as possible candidates are Jack Griffin, Tech offensive coach, and two former Dodd aides, Florida's Ray Graves and Charlie Tate of Miami of Florida.

Whoever gets the job will be in select company with a rugged rebuilding chore ahead.

Dodd, 58, headed Tech's football program for 22 years. He was only the third coach since the sport was adopted at the school in 1904.

The Yellow Jackets, who had 9-1 record and then lost to Florida in the Orange Bowl, are beefing up their schedule next fall with Notre Dame, Miami, Georgia, Tennessee, Auburn, Vanderbilt, Texas Christian, Clemson, Tulane and Duke in the lineup.

"We are graduating half of our 22 starters, and our team next fall definitely will be weaker and our schedule will be tougher," Dodd said.

Old Feuds Breaking Out Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The roster of stars is shrinking and the old feuds are breaking out again, but there WILL be a U.S. Track and Field Federation indoor track meet here Friday.

The federation, an arm of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in its fight with the Amateur Athletic Union, finally conceded that Gerry Lindgren, the distance running star from Washington State, would not be in the meet.

The reason according to the federation — Lindgren has allergy problems and is curbing his schedule.

The reason according to Washington State officials — Lindgren, who ran a far-from-allergic 8:31.6 two-mile last Saturday, just isn't interested. Contrary to federation statements, he isn't entered and never was, the officials say.

Lindgren's race in Seattle Saturday was the third fastest indoor two mile in the books.

Also out of the meet is Charley Greene, NCAA spring champ from Nebraska, who is recovering from a muscle pull suffered two weeks ago.

Martin McGrady, indoor 600-yard record holder from Central, Ohio, State, is doubtful because of a foot injury and middle-distance star Richard Urbina of Georgetown is probably out because of a preference for a meet in Los Angeles on Saturday.

The federation meet is not sanctioned by the AAU, which claims foreign athletes — whether students in American colleges or not — can't compete. The same goes for Americans who are not in college, say the AAU.

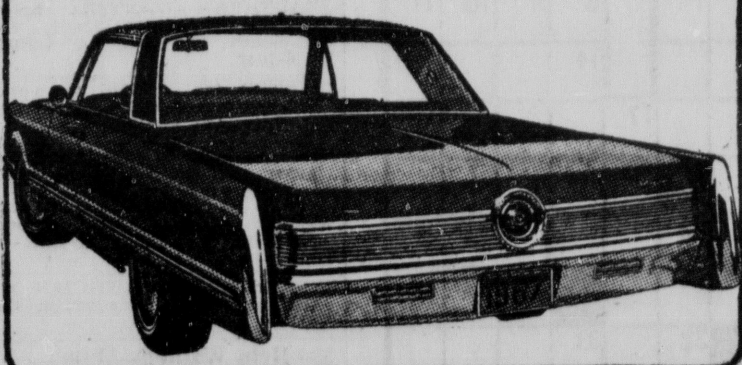

Neill Duggan, the sub-4 minute miler from England, already has pulled out on the orders of the British Athletic Association and other noncollegians may follow suit.

The federation says sanctioning rules are not in effect while a federal panel is trying to arrange a truce in the matter. The AAU says business as usual.

That leaves Bob Seagren, indoor pole-vault record holder from the University of Southern California, and runners Tommie Smith and Lee Evans of San Jose, as the big attractions in the meet.

Chamberlain Sure To Lose Point Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain, turned playmaker, is a sure bet to lose his scoring title, but no one is taking away his field goal percentage and rebounding leadership, the latest National Basketball Association statistics showed today.

Rick Barry of San Francisco, set to replace Chamberlain as the league's top scorer, has a runaway total of 1,978 points in 55 games for a 36-point-a-game average. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati firmly holds second with 1,578 points for a 30.3 average.

Jerry West of Los Angeles replaced Philadelphia's Chamberlain in third place with 1,356 points, four more than big Wilt. West is averaging 28.9 points a game to 23.7 for Wilt.

But Chamberlain, passing off much more than in earlier years when he broke most NBA scoring marks, appears certain to repeat as rebound and field goal percentage leader. He is averaging 24.2 rebounds a game, grabbing 1,379, and hitting a fantastic 68.5 per cent of his field goal attempts.

Nate Thurmond of San Francisco is his closest challenger off the boards with 1,252 or 22 per game. Bill Russell of Boston has 1,186 and 21.6.

No one is near Chamberlain in shooting percentage. And Wilt also ranks third in assists with 7.3 a game. Guy Rodgers of Chicago leads with 11.6 with Robertson second with 10.4.

Adrian Smith of Cincinnati leads in free throw percentage over Barry, 89.7 to 88.5.

Bullets Have Their Favorite Team In Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eight teams in the National Basketball Association might be glad to have Baltimore around this year, but the Bullets have a favorite of their own — the St. Louis Hawks.

Without the Hawks, the Bullets would be buried even deeper in the Eastern Division cellar, as they proved Monday night in Memphis, Tenn., by belting St. Louis 107-98 in the only game of the night.

The Bullets have won only 14 games this season, but three of them have come against the Hawks against only two defeats. Only Cincinnati has lost that many to the Bullets, but the Royals have beaten them five times.

Gus Johnson and Kevin Loughery took up the slack left by the absence of Don Ohl, out for the season with an injured knee, as they helped build a 50-30 first half lead. Johnson scored 13 points and Loughery in the half.

When Len Wilkens, who finished with 25 points, and Bill Bridges led a St. Louis charge that got within 87-86, Johnson hit two free throws, Jack Marin added another and Johnson drove for a basket and a six-point lead. The Hawks never seriously threatened again.

Children Suffocate In A Refrigerator

LA HABRA, Calif. (AP) — Three children suffocated when they became trapped in an upright refrigerator in a garage.

Shirley Meeks discovered the bodies of her son, Willie, 5, and two girls for whom she was baby-sitting while their mother recovered in a hospital from surgery.

The other victims were Ladonna Highbaugh, 4, and her sister Wanda, 3.

Mrs. Meeks said she noticed the three children missing Monday about 10:15 a.m. and, after searching for three hours, called police.

The bodies of the children were found huddled in the refrigerator.

Questions Taxpayers Ask Most Frequently

No Room Is Provided For Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — One right that lady congressmen want to exercise is the right to exercise.

The problem: There is no women's locker room in the otherwise beautifully appointed House gym — perhaps because there are only 11 women in the House and only a fraction of those are exercise addicts.

Rep. Patsy Mink, a trim Democrat of about 40 from Hawaii, is one who would like the place turned over to the women members for just a few hours a week. But the men won't let them in.

"Their argument is that there are 424 of them and only 11 of us," she said.

The odds didn't faze Mrs. Mink Monday when she and two other congresswomen made a frontal attack. In the process they jarred gym director Herbert Botts.

Rep. Charlotte Reid, R-Ill., 53, leader of the raid, marched into a gym anteroom with Mrs. Mink and Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., 52.

With straight faces, they said they were there in response to a letter inviting all members of the House to a new series of calisthenics classes.

Botts hurried them out, explaining they had already penetrated the defenses of the all-male establishment more than was proper.

"The men come out there in various stages of dress to make telephone calls and things," Botts said.

The ladies knew they were off limits but they said it was worth it to keep the pressure on for an "equal time" gym — sharing treaty.

"We were trying to make a point," said Mrs. Mink.

"We really felt sorry for the poor man," Mrs. Reid said, "but when we heard about that letter we couldn't resist it."

Two Children Die In Fire At Their Home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two children died Monday as fire destroyed their two-story frame home in St. Louis. Police said their father was able to rescue a third child.

The victims were the children of John Wayne, 39, who was in the living room of the house when the fire started. They were Francetta Wayne, 3, and her brother, Byron, 4.

The father rushed to the bedroom and rescued his one-year-old daughter Lisa. The children's mother was not home.

Bobsled Run Is Postponed For Wednesday Run

ALPE D'HUEZ, France (AP)

Italy's Eugenio Monti was temporarily thwarted today in his bid for a 10th title when the second run of world's two-man bobsled championships was postponed until Wednesday.

American hopes for winning the two-man title for the first time since 1936 have been all but wiped out.

Organizers of the event said unevenness on the ice coating on the vertical walls of three of the 1,000-meter chute's seven bends had developed during the night.

The second run also was postponed on Monday. There are 22 sleds from 11 countries entered.

"We cannot risk the life of the bobsleers," said Amilcare Rotta of Italy, president of the international jury.

"It is almost impossible to control the steering of the sled in those curves. We must cancel today's descents," Rotta added.

Two noncompeting bobs made trial runs in the course. One turned over, injuring French bobsleers Lucien Della Vedova and Roland Eymard. The other sled completed the run minus its brakeman Mervin Sanderson of Canada, who was bounced off the bob but did not suffer injuries.

Defending champion Monti, in a pair with Sergio Siorpaes, led the standings after Monday's first run with a time of 58.43 seconds.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Rosetta stone, which dates back to the time of Ptolemy V about 195 B.C., was found in Egypt by a French officer in 1799. A black basalt slab about 4 feet long and 2 1/2 feet wide, the stone contained three identical inscriptions in Greek, demotic and hieroglyphic, says The World Almanac. By comparing the three inscriptions, Jean Francois Champollion, a young French scholar, succeeded in deciphering the hieroglyphics and thereby opened intensive study of ancient Egypt.
